INTRODUCTION

This plan explains how Blackburn with Darwen Borough Council will deliver its responsibilities for food law enforcement through its Public Protection Service (PPS) for 2022/23. In addition it reviews the work carried out in the previous year to meet the Council's plans and obligations.

Due to the Covid-19 pandemic the food safety inspection program has been severely curtailed for almost 2 years. The Food Standards Agency issued periodic instructions on how available staffing resources should be used to prioritise food safety work. The revised requirements continue into 2022/23 and 2023/24 and this plan sets out how we will meet those requirements.

Blackburn with Darwen Borough Council is a unitary authority which has responsibility for regulating businesses with regards to food hygiene, safety, standards and food and feed hygiene at primary production.

The plan has been produced in accordance with the Food Standards Agency Framework Agreement on Local Authority Food Law Enforcement.

The plan seeks to provide clarity on what we do and why we do it.

The plan is reviewed and updated annually. It is presented before the Executive Elected Member for Environment for consideration and approval.

2. BACKGROUND

2.1 Profile

Blackburn with Darwen lies on the boundary between the Lancashire countryside and the Greater Manchester conurbation.

The central urban areas of the Borough have many problems more often associated with inner cities – high population density, and many people from disadvantaged or vulnerable groups.

2.1.1 Population

The latest population figures for 2018 show a population of 148,900.

Almost 30% of the borough's population are from Black and Minority Ethnic groups.

The people of Blackburn with Darwen face exceptional challenges to their health and wellbeing. These challenges are associated with a number of factors including relatively low educational attainment, low income, high unemployment, and poor and often overcrowded housing. Blackburn with Darwen is in the worst 10% of areas in terms of deprivation.

Life expectancy data from the early 1990s onwards has shown that in Blackburn with Darwen resident's average life expectancy has been below that of the England and Wales and North West averages. The health of people in the borough lags behind the England average on a range of indicators.

2.2 Organisational arrangements

The delivery of the Food Service Plan sits with the Council's Public Protection and Environmental Health Service. This is part of the Environment and Operations Department.

The authority has made provisions with the following bodies in order to deliver certain specialist areas:

3 SERVICE DELIVERY

3.1 Interventions in food and feeding stuffs establishments

Inspections for all food premises are risk-based and pre-programmed. For food hygiene purposes the Food Standards Agency Food Law Code of Practice risk rating scheme is used. These scores are fed into the national Food Hygiene Rating Scheme which publishes business ratings for food hygiene on the website: <http://ratings.food.gov.uk/>

Food standards inspections are also scored using the Food Standards Agency Food Law Code of Practice risk rating scheme.

Food hygiene rating & non-compliant premises

The rating profile of food businesses within the Food Hygiene Rating Scheme (FHRS) is as follows:

Rating	Number of premises
0	3
1	41
2	18
3	92
4	206
5	672
Awaiting Inspection	67
Exempt	125

The total number of broadly compliant premises operating within the Borough in 2021/22 was 94% of the premises within FHRS eligibility.

The FHRS scores can be viewed on the Food Standards Agency website at <http://ratings.food.gov.uk/>

FOOD LAW SERVICE PLAN 2022/23

Due to the response to the covid-19 pandemic required by Environmental Health Officers the food safety inspection programme was severely curtailed during 2020/21 and 2021/22. The Food Standards Agency recognised this impact and have issued a recovery plan. The inspection programme detailed in this service plan is in line with the FSA recovery plan.

At the end of 2021/22 all inspections due under the recovery plan were completed. This was only possible to achieve because of the additional, temporary staffing resources provided through the Covid Outbreak Management Funds (COMF). This still leaves a back log from the inspections due under the usual inspection frequency as laid out in the Food Law Code of Practice.

The following table identifies the inspection requirements for 2022/23:

	Number of inspections required	Comment
Cat A hygiene	6	Min 6 monthly inspection
Cat B hygiene	56	Min 12 monthly inspection
Cat C hygiene	156	Min 18 monthly inspection
Cat D hygiene	262	Min 24 monthly inspection – intervention inspection
Cat E hygiene	217	Min 36 monthly inspection
Outside the programme	161(no inspection required)	Child minders, some church halls supplying very low risk foods
Primary producers	5	Farms
Unrated hygiene premises	67	Premises that have sent in a food registration form but which have not yet been inspected. These premises will be inspected during this calendar year
Cat A food standards premises	12	Inspection every 12 months
Cat B food standards premises	200	Inspection every 2 years
Cat C food standards premises	269	Alternative enforcement/Intervention every 5 years – alternative enforcement questionnaire
Outside the programme	161	Child minders, some church halls supplying very low risk foods
Unrated standards premises	67	Premises that have sent in a food registration form but which have not yet been inspected. These premises will be reviewed during this calendar year

FOOD LAW SERVICE PLAN 2022/23

Many of the programmed inspections carried out require revisiting to ensure work required to bring the premises back into compliance with the standards set out in the regulations has been completed. Averaged over the last 8 years there have been 170 revisits per year. It is anticipated a similar number of revisits will be required in 2022/23. Food businesses will be brought into compliance through the use of advice, both verbally during the inspection and in writing. Where this proves to be insufficient we will use more formal methods such as improvement notices, remedial action notices and prosecutions.

In 2022/23 we will not be relying on an alternative enforcement strategy of gathering information by questionnaire from very low risk food businesses. Temporary staffing resource has been made available to assist the Public Protection Service with recovery following the pandemic. In order to update our database of food businesses category E low risk premises will be visited to gather information on the following.

Type of food business
Number of vehicles used
Water supplier
Name of manager
Number of people engaged in the business
Opening times
Training of the owners and staff
Off site facilities

New legislation for 2021 and 2022

“Natasha’s Law” was introduced in 2021 placing duties on food businesses to fully label foods prepared on the premises and pre-packed for sale. A typical business affected by the change would be a sandwich shop where sandwiches are pre-prepared and displayed in a customer facing fridge. The intention of Natasha’s Law is to ensure all allergens are declared on the packaging to protect the lives of those who are allergic to certain ingredients.

Advice has been provided to businesses affected by the new requirements and checks on compliance built into food safety and standards inspections.

Businesses are required to comply with additional legislation in 2022 designed to help tackle the worsening problem of over-weight and obese people in the UK. These are:

- From April the requirement for businesses employing more than 250 people to provide calorie information displayed at the point of choice for the customer, such as physical menus, online menus, food delivery platforms and food labels on non-prepacked foods for immediate consumption. Restaurants, cafes and takeaways will need to comply with the legislation to inform customers and allow healthier decisions to be made.

- From October some restrictions on the promotion of foods high in fat, salt and sugar (HFSS) by volume price (for example, 'buy one get one free') and location, both online and in store will be introduced for medium and larger businesses. Some of these measures have been postponed for a year due to the cost of living crisis. We await final details of what changes will be required when.

The current staffing levels are considered sufficient to deliver the food hygiene and standards inspection program for 2022/23.

3.2 Feed and Food complaints

We deal with complaints as detailed in the Code of Practice from the FSA and we adopt a business compliance approach to all regulatory activity.

3.3 Home authority principle and primary authority scheme

Under the Regulatory Enforcement and Sanctions Act 2008 local authorities may agree to become a primary authority for a food business – this principle is supported by the Public protection service.

The service currently has a number of informal home authority arrangements with food businesses and as primary authority for 2 businesses. In 2022/23 we will continue to work to maintain our current primary authority partnerships.

3.4 Advice to businesses

In 2022/23 we will continue to provide a basic level of advice either during inspections or by signposting businesses to information freely available on the internet etc. In 2021/22 advice was given to premises during a programmed inspection on 52 occasions. In addition, on a further 131 occasions advice was requested by businesses.

Where more in-depth advice is requested by a business, which may include a visit to a business premises, costs will be recovered for the time spent providing the advice. The current fee is published on the Council's website <http://www.blackburn.gov.uk/Pages/Fees-and-charges-booklet.aspx>

3.5 Feed and food sampling

The Service will continue to participate in sampling surveys organised through the Lancashire Food Officer group and TSNW where the study is relevant to Blackburn with Darwen and our staff resources allow.

FOOD LAW SERVICE PLAN 2022/23

Samples from manufacturing premises will remain a priority for the service. Should a specific local problem be identified, then a themed sampling survey may be undertaken. In addition, food samples may be taken during investigations of food safety problems originating in Blackburn with Darwen notified by other authorities.

Feeding stuff and feed hygiene enforcement is undertaken by Oldham Council as part of the animal health enforcement contract.

During 2021/22 we took 1 sample.

3.6 Control and investigation of outbreaks and food related infectious diseases

Infectious and communicable disease control is an important factor of food safety. The responsibility for the delivery of investigations into outbreaks is a co-operative venture between the Public Health England, Local Authorities and other agencies.

Notifications are followed up by visit, phone call or questionnaire depending on the nature of the disease and numbers of people affected. As far as possible we follow the Public Health Operational Guidelines for Enteric Fever together with the "Procedure for the management of an outbreak of food poisoning and gastro intestinal illness". In 2022/23 we will prioritise our response with samples only being taken for high risk cases with high risk infections such as Typhoid, E. coli 0157 and Salmonella. We will not respond to residential home outbreaks where symptoms and onset patterns suggest the most likely cause to be a non-food borne virus.

The following shows the number of confirmed cases of food borne illness over recent years:

16/17 - 212 cases
17/18 - 199 cases
18/19 - 193 cases
19/20 – 212 cases
20/21 – 125 cases
21/22 – 167 cases

This requires resources from officers up to the equivalent of 0.15 FTE.

3.7 Feed/food safety incidents

The public protection service will respond promptly to all food alerts issued by the FSA and notify the Agency of any serious localised issue or wider food safety incident identified, in accordance with the code of practice.

FOOD LAW SERVICE PLAN 2022/23

We currently receive all food alerts to individual officers via email and through the FSA Inbox.

Any food alerts needing notification out of normal office hours can be done by contacting the Council's emergency contact number - 01254 51098.

Estimate of resource needed 0.05 FTE.

3.8 Liaison with other organisations

The Service is a member of Environmental Health Lancashire and Trading Standards North West (TSNW). Each has several subgroups where specialist areas of work are considered. It is estimated that the staff resource to attend meetings of these groups amounts to 8 days per year.

3.9 Feed and food safety and standards promotional work and other non-official controls interventions

The Public Protection Service is committed to promoting initiatives which impact on the health, safety and wellbeing of residents and visitors to the borough. In 2022/23 the service will contribute to the following projects:

- Recipe 4 Health
- Maintenance of the Food Hygiene Rating Scheme

Information and guidance on food matters is included on the services website pages.
